TUMBLE!

A simple drop of water from the kitchen sink got Lilly the Lash into a bit of a predicament!

But water is very, very important to the survival of mankind and the earth as we know it.

The earth's natural resources, including water, are being overused; and often through wasteful actions.

Without water, life would be extremely difficult – for us and for all the future generations.

Can you imagine a world without water?

Below, draw an image of what you think our world might look like if we used up all of our precious water.
