

She often viewed life through a magnifying glass.
Inspecting each moment before it would pass.