

WELCOMING THE TEACHER

Make Lilly and The Gang Proud!!

Draw a line to the correct ending

If everyone is walking around and the substitute teacher comes in the room, the students should help the teacher out by kindly reciting their names.

If the substitute teacher is looking for something and can't find it, the students should show respect to the substitute teacher by quieting down.

A substitute teacher may not remember the student's names. If that happens, the students should offering the teacher directions to the lunch room, office area, or the nearest restroom.

If the class gets excited and becomes too loud, the students should help the teacher find what they are looking for.

A substitute teacher may not be familiar with the school. Students can be helpful by go to their desks and sit down in their chairs.
