Activity:

Gather the children in a circle and read The Toy Store. After the reading, discuss different types of sharing. Point out how together the students and the teacher share the classroom, and how following rules of the classroom helps bring order and leaves everyone feeling comfortable there. Now play Lilly Says. It's just like Simon Says...but Lilly is in charge! Use the ideas I've listed for this activity, or add your own to the list. You know your class best, and may have certain rules you want to address. Help students to learn to follow the rules and have the time of your life teaching them!!!

Assessment:

Students will understand the importance of following the classroom rules and will learn to interact appropriately with their peers.
