

Tommy, alone, with his nose to the glass,
Watched the boys in the park kick a can in the grass.
He could not understand, how without a new toy,
They were laughing and running and jumping with joy.