

Dear Parents,

Today your child was involved in a lesson about sharing. We read the book The Toy Store by Julie Woik, which shows us how we can create friendships and feel good about ourselves through the value of sharing.

I encourage you to ask your child what he or she has learned from the reading of this book, and to discuss ideas that could help everyone in the family share in thought, feeling, and action.

You may want to practice by pointing out when someone in the family or someone you know has exercised the genuine act of sharing. Always remember to give praise whenever it is deserved.

Thank you for helping us to help your children grow and become healthy adults with strong values and morals.

Sincerely,

The Life and Times of Lilly the Lash™
The Toy Store

The second in a series of children's books teaching values and morals, building strong self-esteem in children from 0 - 10.

Please visit Lilly's website at www.lillythelash.com for further details.