

The uncomfortable silence had surfaced again.

But was broken, by the arrival, of Old Auntie Bren.
“It’s so great to see you,” poor Daxton exclaimed,

“Our city was ravaged, not much has remained.”

