

While resting her feet, Lilly happened to see,
Through a wide open window, the place she should be.
The eggs on the table were throwing a fit,
And the cheese and the butter were threatening to split!

