

"Come in," gestured Wilma, as she offered a seat.
He shuffled past slowly, staring down at his feet.
"I think I've caused problems," Boomer struggled to declare.
"But it wasn't my intention to appear I didn't care."

